These forums are designed to be a place for model engineering and home workshop enthusiasts to discuss tools, models, materials and assorted workshop activities.

The rules are simple.

- BE NICE
- No links to copyrighted materials unless you own the copyright.
- Keep to the facts if you are reporting a bad experience with someone or a company.
- Be nice to the other members.
- Don't start a flaming war other wise we'll drop the firewall on you, lively discussions are allowed.
- Remember that there is often more ways than yours to solve a problem, so let other's have their opinion.

I have tons of rules that cover most of the things that people can get upset about but won't bother with, we are all nice people as the idiots will be banned.
